

LITTLE CHANGE IN GREAT BATTLE

French Commander Admits Reverses In Western Theatre of the War

GERMANS ON OFFENSIVE

Invaders Take Offensive Against Right Wing of Allied Army and Portion of French Forces

BOTH SIDES CLAIM SUCCESSES

London, Oct. 24.—The immense armies of the belligerent powers continue to hammer each other ceaselessly on lines extending from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier on the west and from the Baltic Sea to the Carpathians in the east. The net result, however, so far as can be judged from official reports issued tonight, is that they gain a little here only to lose a little elsewhere.

The French commander in chief is the only one to admit reverses in the western theatre of the war, and he does so only in cryptic sentences. It is difficult to judge, therefore, how the battles in France and Belgium are progressing but it is certain that up to this evening none of the armies have succeeded in pushing its offensive far enough to bring appreciably nearer the end of any of the engagements that have been going on for so many weeks.

Germans Take Offensive.
The Germans have taken the offensive against both the right wing of the allied army, which rests on the sea and that portion of the French army which is defending the line of fortifications between Verdun and Toul. In the former operations in which every German soldier at the command of the officers in Belgium is taking part, the French report admits that the Germans have made progress at some points, but asserts that at others the allies have been just as successful.

Cannot Advance Along Coast.
It is evident that along the coast the Germans have found it difficult to advance in the face of the hard fighting force drawn along the Yser canal, aided by the British and French ships, which are bombarding them from the sea. It probably is the most picturesque battle ever fought. On shore the troops of five nations are fighting—the Austrians and Germans on one side and the French, Belgian and British on the other.

At sea British monitors, gunboats, destroyers and submarines are fighting side by side with French warships, while at the same time they are being subjected to attack by German submarines and airships.

Warships Suffer Little.
Thus far the warships have had the better of it, for while they are reported to have inflicted terrible losses on the Germans, trying to advance along the coast, they themselves have suffered little or no damage and have warded off attacks by submarines.

The British admiralty has issued an interesting account of the operations of this fleet, in which it is explained that the ships have fired upon the German batteries in the vicinity of Ostend. It probably was this which led to reports from Holland that the Germans have been driven back in that direction and also to the statement that the allies had re-occupied Ostend.

Train Loads of Wounded Daily.
About Lille, which the Germans hold, there have been unusual fluctuations, the French gaining in one area, not far distant, the Germans in another, not far distant. There has been so much fighting here, as well as further south, in the direction of Arras, and Roye, that even the accounts of train loads of wounded being taken daily to the hospitals cannot be exaggerated.

The same can be said of the district between the fortresses of Verdun and Toul, where two armies have been battling for many weeks, with gains and losses amounting to virtually nothing as far as distance is concerned.

Today both sides claim success in a battle in which there were so many victims that the Germans asked for a truce to bury their dead. This plea was refused.

Germans Compelled to Quit.
In Poland the Russians, having compelled the Germans to desist from their first attacks on Warsaw and Lvov, are preparing for a repetition of the offensive on the part of their adversaries by bringing up more men and guns. Further south they have not been able to make the Austrians, who are now under command of German officers and stiffened with German troops, give up their attempt to cross the San river.

The Russians also apparently are engaged in offensive operations on the east Prussian frontier as the German official report refers to a Russian attack at Augustow, which it says, was repulsed.

War News Summarized

The situation along the North Sea coast and from there many miles to the south appears to have changed but little in the last few days. A continuation of the great battle which has been in progress every since the Germans essayed their advance on the coast toward the French seaports, is reported in the official despatches and apparently the fire of the opposing forces is becoming more desperate than ever, with charges and counter-charges on both sides.

Germany is said to have sent many thousands of reinforcements to aid the right wing in forcing its way through what is, from a strategic viewpoint the most important piece of territory in northern Belgium. But the Belgians are fighting hard and there is no doubt that French reinforcements and possibly British, have been brought up to aid the allied armies.

The latest French official communication says all attacks of the Germans from the North Sea to the south of Arras have been repulsed, which is a rather more optimistic view from the French standpoint than that expressed in an earlier announcement to the effect that the Germans had made headway at certain points. In addition, the French have occupied the important position of Melziourt, which commands the roads leading from Varennes, around which there are strong German forces to the valley of the Aisne.

The British and French warships continue to pour their shells into German ranks and the Germans are guarding points along the coast in order to be ready for a possible British landing.

A German submarine has been sunk off the Dutch coast by the British destroyer Badger. The official announcement of this incident gives no details but says the Badger's bow was damaged when she rammed the submarine, which is believed to have been attempting a torpedo attack.

Berlin officially reports that German forces have succeeded in crossing the Yser canal where for several days the Belgians had been offering strong opposition. Berlin also reports that German troops slowly advancing east of Lille. There has been severe fighting for a long time in this vicinity.

In the eastern theatre of the war the Russians, according to the official statements emanating from Petrograd, is still pressing hard upon the armies of Austria and Germany which are reported to be in retreat. It is evident that the campaign in the east is being waged furiously, for most of the accounts agree that the armies are in the closest contact and are coming to hand to hand encounters at many places. All the fighting, however, is being done in Poland and Galicia, while seemingly east Prussia is quiet.

WILSON ADMINISTRATION WANTS ROGER SULLIVAN

Postmaster General Burleson Appeals to Democratic Voters at Peoria in Sullivan's Behalf.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 24.—After speaking for an hour and thirty minutes in praise of the record of the Democratic congress, Postmaster General Burleson closed his address here tonight with an appeal to Democrats to support Roger C. Sullivan for senator.

If you want to help Woodrow Wilson, the postmaster general said, "vote for Roger C. Sullivan for senator. The administration wants him because it believes that he will keep his word and sustain the president."

Mr. Burleson said that the Democratic party has kept faith in legislation for tariff revision downward, reform of the banking and currency laws and the amendment of the anti-trust laws. He praised President Wilson for his policy of watchful waiting in Mexico and predicted that he will be chosen as the arbiter when peace negotiations are opened between the warring European powers.

PFANSCHMIDT JURY FAVORING ACQUITTAL

JURYMEN REPORTED TO BE NINE TO THREE FOR ACQUITTAL

Quincy Boy Charged With Murder of Four Persons May Know His Fate Today at Macomb—Case Went to Jury Yesterday Noon.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 24.—Ray Pfanschmidt, Quincy boy and former student of the University of Illinois, who is now on trial in Macomb, Ill., for the murder of his father, mother, sister and a girl visitor at the Pfanschmidt home near here two years ago, may know his fate tomorrow.

His case went to the jury Saturday at noon. At 11 o'clock tonight it was stated on a well authenticated report that it stood 9 to 3 for acquittal. The first ballot taken earlier in the afternoon is said to have been 8 to 4 for acquittal.

Pfanschmidt is charged with having killed his family with an axe and then setting fire to the home. He was tried in Quincy once and sentenced to hang. The case was sent back by the supreme court, with much of the evidence stricken out of the record and a new trial ordered. It went to Macomb on a change of venue.

ANXIETY AS TO SAFETY OF FRANCE IS INCREASING

Fighting is Proceeding Within One Hour's Ride of Paris by Motor—No Decisive News From the Front.

Paris, Oct. 24.—Paris has lived through another tense day with no decisive news of the battle upon which the safety of the capital and perhaps of France, is believed to depend. Anxiety has been increasing all the week. It has seemed as though each day must see the culmination of the titanic efforts of the two grand armies.

The shops of Paris, which have been busy since the first of the month, are nearly empty again, while the crowds have increased around the newspaper offices, discussing the fragments of news posted on the bulletin boards.

Fighting is proceeding within one hour's ride of Paris by swift motor, when the roads are clear. Some persons say that when the wind is right cannonading can be heard in the northern suburbs of the city. Convoys of automobile ambulances from all the Paris hospitals have gone to the front to convey the wounded, not to Paris but to hospitals near the firing line. Extraordinary precautions are being taken against wheeled vehicles, including bicycles, leaving the limits of the so-called entrenched camp of Paris, which includes the departments of Seine and Seine et Oise. Even pedestrians are examined along the roads near Paris and French officers are frequently obliged to show their papers, under new instructions, owing to the use of French uniforms by spies.

The minister of war will not grant any permit to approach within twenty miles of the fighting line, unless it is countersigned by Gen. Joffre.

JURY CONSIDERING CASE OF MRS. FLORENCE CARMAN

Famous Murder Case Goes to Jurymen at 9:45 O'clock Last Evening.

Minneapolis, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial for the killing of Mrs. Louise Bailey in Dr. Carman's office, after listening all afternoon to the summing up of the defense and the prosecution and the charge of Justice Charles H. Kelby, retired at 9:45 o'clock tonight.

The defense rested its case early in the morning session and several witnesses in rebuttal were called by District Attorney Smith. Then for more than three hours and a half John J. Graham, Mrs. Carman's chief counsel, reviewed the state's case. He said the slayer of Mrs. Bailey undoubtedly was a man and not his client and appealed to the jurors to restore the defendant to her home and her family.

In summing up his case for the people District Attorney Smith painted Mrs. Carman as a calculating, scheming woman who deliberately murdered under the spur of jealousy. Justice Kelby explained the different degrees of homicide in his charge to the jury, discussing at some length the credibility of witnesses.

WILL NOT CALL EXTRA SESSION

Washington, Oct. 24.—With the return of President Wilson from Pittsburgh, tonight it became known that predictions made in the house earlier in the day that congress would be convened in extra session in November to consider cotton relief legislation were not made on the authority of Mr. Wilson. Officials close to the president said he would not call an extra session.

TRIAL OF ASSASSIN.

Sarajevo, via Amsterdam and London, Oct. 24.—The prosecutor made his closing address today in the trial of the alleged assassins of Arch Duke Francis Ferdinand of Austria. The evidence he said, had proved that the Serbian ministry, even the heir to the throne, had often been in communication with men hired to kill leading statesmen and the Austrian arch duke.

OFFICIAL REPORTS

ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A German submarine has been rammed and sunk by the British destroyer Badger, Commander Charles Freemantle of the Dutch coast. The Badger's bow was somewhat damaged. This official announcement was made tonight.

FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 24.—"From the sea as far as the region to the south of Arras, the violent attacks of the enemy have everywhere been repulsed," an official communication issued tonight by the French war office says. "West of the Argonne region, we have carried the village of Melziourt, which commands the valley of the Aisne. There is nothing to report on the remainder of the front."

RUSSIA

PETROGRAD, Oct. 24.—The following official communication was issued by general headquarters tonight:

"Our troops beyond the Vistula are pressing the armies of the enemy in retreat. North of the Piltza river the Germans are offering only feeble resistance. They have been driven back as far as Skieniewice. "South of the Piltza, on the roads to Radom, we have forced the Austro-German troops to engage in a serious battle.

"On October 23, the fighting line extended forty verstas (26 miles). At certain points the engagements took on the character of hand to hand encounters.

"In the forest around Hadom several of our infantry regiments successfully carried out bayonet attacks. At other points we have taken prisoners and rapid firers. "Above the river Iljanka the Austrian troops are seeking again to establish themselves on the Vistula but our troops have crossed the river and are offering strong resistance.

"Along the river San and south of Przemyśl desperate engagements continue but the advantage is with our troops who have here made thousands of prisoners. In taking the heights of Tytchenka, south of Jaroslavl, we have made prisoners of five Austrian corps.

"In repulsing an attack of the enemy against our corps operating south of Przemyśl we have captured 500 prisoners and nine rapid firers. The left wing of that corps, taking the offensive, made a number of prisoners and captured a quantity of arms and cartridges. A column of the enemy which occupied the heights of Stry was taken. A thousand prisoners were taken. "There is nothing to report from East Prussia."

HARD FIGHTING BETWEEN NIEUPORT AND OSTEND

Belgians Obstinately Defend Yser Canal—Battle Is Not Decided.

London, Oct. 24.—Fierce fighting is going on in the district between Nieuport and Ostend, as well as around Thourout, Thielt and Deynze, according to a late despatch received by the Reuter Telegram Co., from Sluis, Holland, by way of Amsterdam.

"The Yser canal is being obstinate defended by the Belgians," the despatch continues. "The bombardment was kept up all night, but this morning (Saturday) both sides rested for a while. At noon heavy firing was resumed but the battle has not yet been decided.

"The Germans are guarding the Lighthouse at Knocke, close to the Dutch frontier on the North Sea, as a measure of precaution against a possible landing by the British. The dunes are also being guarded. German marines have occupied the village of Heyst and the villages between Sluis and Bruges.

"Great movements of troops have taken place from Bruges and yesterday the army corps relieved from Antwerp, Bruges and Ghent, is on its way to Thourout and Westende, from which point many wounded are being brought back. Long trains conveying wounded soldiers have arrived at Bruges, where it is impossible to accommodate all the unfortunates. The medical stores are inadequate and the number of doctors not large enough to cope with the work.

"The fighting has been of a most sanguinary character. One German soldier relates that at one point between Ostend and Nieuport, 1,500 of his comrades were buried in a single field.

MAY KILL ALL DISEASED LIVESTOCK IN INDIANA

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT MAKES PROPOSAL TO STATE OF INDIANA

Willing to Advance Amount of Loss to Owner of Diseased Stock if State Will Pay One-half the Amount Through Action of Next Legislature—Hoof and Mouth Disease Prevalent in Northern Part of State.

Indianapolis, Oct. 24.—All cattle or droves of sheep or swine at all affected with the hoof or mouth disease which has appeared in northern Indiana, shall be killed, according to a proposal by the federal government and made public here tonight in a proclamation issued by Governor Samuel M. Ralston. The governor called upon the officials and residents of St. Joseph and La Porte counties which are under state and federal quarantine, to assist the state and federal authorities in enforcing the regulations.

The United States government has agreed to advance the amount of the loss to the stock raisers, on condition that it shall be reimbursed one half of the amount by the state through the action of the next legislature, which meets in January. The stock which must be killed is estimated to be worth $100,000.

NEW YORK BANKS WIPE OUT CASH RESERVE DEFICIT

New York, Oct. 24.—One of the most gratifying features of the week was the wiping out of the deficit in cash reserves by New York banks and the substitution of an excess amounting to about $8,400,000. These institutions reported a deficit of almost $48,000,000 two weeks after the beginning of the European war.

It is clear however, that it is trade recession that is sending cash into bank reserves in increasing volumes. The money market relaxes correspondingly from week to week. Clearing house certificates and emergency currency are being retired. As yet very moderate investment has been stimulated. Prospects of the federal reserve law becoming effective on November 30 promises further large additions to available credits.

Railroad abstention from buying of materials emphasizes the prostration of the steel trade. For the present the grain movement is serving to sustain railroad traffic.

It is not improbable that the plans of the British government for protecting the London stock exchange debtors upon the expiration of the moratorium on November 4, may decide to a great extent the question of an early reopening of the London exchange and our own.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Washington, Oct. 24.—After weeks of negotiation between bankers and members of the federal reserve board a tentative agreement was reached tonight which the board practically approved, by which a fund of $135,000,000 will be raised to take care of the surplus cotton crop and extend aid to the cotton producers. The plan is slightly different from that originally proposed but loans will be made on cotton at six cents per pound, bearing interest of not more than six per cent.

FEDERAL MEETING CLOSES

New York, Oct. 24.—After an all day session here the annual meeting of the Federal League of Baseball clubs adjourned tonight subject to the call for an executive committee composed of President Gilmore, R. B. Ward of Brooklyn and J. E. Robertson of Buffalo.

AUSTRIANS DEFEATED.

London, Oct. 24, 7:41 p. m.—A message received in Rome from Scutari, says the Montenegrins have defeated the Austrian attempt to turn their right wing along the river Drina, according to a despatch from the Italian capital to the Exchange Telegraph company. The battle lasted two days and the Montenegrins claim to have killed one thousand Austrians and to have captured one battery. The Montenegrins lost 170 killed and the Montenegrin General Vojlovich was wounded.

LOWERS WORLD'S RECORD.

Hamline, Minn., Oct. 24.—The world's record of 1:32:24 1-2 for a dirt track, established by Ralph Mulford at Galesburg, Ill., two days ago was lowered to 1:31:30 by Tom Alley, winner of today's 100 mile invitation automobile race at the state fair grounds.

WAR BULLETINS

HONOLULU, Oct. 24.—The German schooner Aeolus, captured by the Japanese destroyer Hizen off Honolulu harbor early today was towed out to a point ten miles off this port tonight, riddled with shells and sunk.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—3:50 a. m.—Anti-German riots occurred shortly after midnight in the Clapham district of London. Police reserves were called to disperse the rioters, who numbered several hundred. Several German shops were damaged.

BERLIN, via Rome, Oct. 25.—12:45 a. m.—An extraordinarily vigorous French attack is being made from Toul, along the line from Pont-A-Mousson to Gironville, against the German army operating against the line of fortresses extending from Verdun to Toul.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Oct. 25.—3:50 a. m.—Up to yesterday about 17,000 Belgian refugees passed through Roosendaal, Holland, on their way back to Antwerp, according to the Handelsblad. The last train leaving on Saturday afternoon consisted of forty coaches, which carried about 3,000 passengers.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 24.—via London, Oct. 25.—1:50 a. m.—Despatches reaching here from Vienna quote Field Marshall Baron Hoetzendorf, chief of the general staff of the Austro-Hungarian army, as saying that the Austrian army is fighting against greatly superior forces and its object is only to hold back the Russians.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—2:35 a. m.—A despatch to the Central News from Copenhagen says that German advisers reaching there say that the Russians are making strenuous efforts to retain possession of Lemberg. The entire civilian population is being compelled to assist the troops day and night in the construction of trenches and fortifications.

OPERATIONS AROUND NIEUPORT TO CLEAR WAY FOR ADVANCE

Allies Greatly Concerned for Safety of Calais—Russians Lose Cannon, Machine Guns and Small Arms.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—via the Hagne and London, Oct. 25.—12:45 a. m.—The German operations around Nieuport are to clear the way for an advance on Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne. It is stated by Major Morath, military correspondent of the Tageblatt. The allies' artillery and the English monitors are unable to check this advance but the writer adds, undoubtedly "special counter-measures" will be taken soon to paralyze this attack upon the sea.

While the enemy is unwilling to admit German successes, the Allies evidently are gravely concerned for the safety of Calais, showing what they expect of further to the south and westward. At Lille the German forces are compelling the Allies to concentrate an attack upon them, thereby preventing the latter from participating in the fighting along the coast. Some successes have been scored to the westward of Lille, warranting the hope that the Germans soon will advance beyond the line of Baillieu and La Bassée, when the reciprocal relations between the operations in the two sections will become evident.

In Suwalki the Russians are trying to check the German advance but they have been repulsed, while behind them are extended swamps. Here and in other sections the Russians are losing an increasing number of prisoners. Moreover one circumstance of great significance for the Russians is particularly evident, namely their heavy losses of cannon, machine guns and small arms. It is estimated that the Germans and Austrians already have taken 1,500 cannons and machine guns and hundreds of thousands of rifles.

The renewal of these supplies is not easy. French and English supplies have been cut off and the route by way of Archangel cannot remain open long, owing to the approach of winter. Russia must, therefore, rely exclusively upon the Putiloff iron works, which operates slowly and produce only certain kinds of guns. Great difficulty will be encountered in the manufacture of heavy guns and howitzers.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS AFTER LONG SESSION

Sixty-Third Congress Ad- journs After 19 Months of Continuous Session

SOUTHERNERS RELENT

Pending Cotton Relief Measures Will Have Right of Way In House at Next Session

FINISH UNDEMONSTRATIVE

SATURDAY IN CONGRESS.
Senate.

Met at noon.
Senator Kern introduced a resolution for adjournment Monday and a recess was taken until 2:30 o'clock to allow conferences with house leaders.

Adjourned at 3:37 p. m. sine die.

House.

Met at noon.
Adjournment plans were still indefinite and a recess was taken to 2 p. m. for conferences with senate leaders.

Reconvened at 2 p. m., adopted resolution for adjournment sine die at 4 p. m. and recessed again at 4:15 p. m. to await the action of the senate.

Adjourned at 3:22 p. m. sine die.

Washington, Oct. 24.—After nearly nineteen months of continuous session since the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, the Sixty-third congress adjourned its second session today after a collapse of prolonged efforts to procure cotton grovers relief legislation. Leaders in this movement agreed to adjourn, however, only on the condition that pending cotton relief measures would have right of way in the house when congress reconvenes on December 7.

Not more than fifty members of the house and less than a quorum of the senate were in attendance when the gavels fell on adjournment. The end was accomplished through the passage of a concurrent resolution ending the session at 4 o'clock in the afternoon but clocks were turned ahead, actual adjournment occurring at 3:22 and the senate at 3:27. As the altered hands of the house clock drew near four, while the senate was winding up executive business, Speaker Clark arose at his desk and, facing the scattered attendance on the floor, said:

Speaker Thanks Members.
"This is the longest and most laborious session that congress ever has had. I congratulate you most heartily on being able to adjourn at last. I wish to thank every member of the house, Democrat, Republican, Progressive and Independent, for uniform courtesy shown to the speaker. Now, in the language of 'Tiny Tim': 'God bless us everyone!'"

The senate adjournment was probably the most undemonstrative in its history. Democratic leaders and a few Republicans were sitting behind closed doors confirming nominations when word came that the house had carried out the adjournment resolution.

Senator Kern, the majority leader, at once moved to open the agenda. When this was ordered the doorkeeper hurried to the speaker's chamber and Senator Swanson of Virginia, presiding in the absence of the vice president and president pro tempore Clarke announced that the senate was adjourned. Senators who had remained for the final hurriedly left the chamber.

Might Injure Chances Later.

In announcing the abandonment of their filibuster for cotton legislation, following a conference held early in the day, Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia and Representative Henry of Texas told senate and house it was apparent that no quorum could be procured for consideration of cotton legislation at this time and that further filibustering might injure chances of ultimate success. Representative Henry expressed his conviction that congress would be convened in extraordinary session by the middle of November, when the fight could be resumed.

Senator Smith introduced a bill for a $250,000,000 government bond issue to buy cotton and said: "We have done all we could for the suffering people of the south. We have had our day in court for this session and I would have no excuse for further filibuster at this time. I shall feel that I have done my duty by simply voting against this adjournment resolution."

Will Investigate Conditions.

The house adopted a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate cotton conditions in the south and to report possible measures for federal aid by December 15. On the committee were representatives Mann, Austin, Henry, Lever, Heflin, Bell of Georgia and Langley.

intent is to get at the wishes of High Cost of Child Labor.

"Exhibit making, like pageant planning," says Mr. Walter Storey of the Russell Sage Foundation, New York, "is fast becoming a profession with a technique of its own."
His remark was called forth by the National Child Labor Committee's exhibit, The High Cost of Child Labor, reproductions of which will be on view in LaSalle during the meetings of the State Conference of Charities, October 24-27. "To make a good exhibit," says Mr. Storey,
"you have to know something of advertising, editing, mechanical construction, color effects and design.
Exhibit makers are developing principles of standardization and efficiency, for exhibits are now the main features of all educational and publicity campaigns, and their preparation is recognized as an art in itself. If you want to get a thing before the people you must make them see it; once they see how a thing works, they don't forget it.
So whether it is Better Babies, or city planning, or playgrounds, or child labor you are talking about, the modern method of setting it over is to make an exhibit on it."

The High Cost of Child Labor, the exhibit to be seen at LaSalle, is according to Mr. Storey a good example of the new technique. It is made up of fifteen clear artistic panels, showing the inevitable cost to the child, to industry, and to Society of premature work. Everything in it is concrete and concise.
One of the most striking things about it is the vivid idea it conveys of the kind of adult that child labor produces. The Child-Labor-Adult, as he is called, is a man whose efficiency has been ruined by premature work, and who very likly joins the army of the unemployed, becomes an object of charity, or adds to what the exhibits call,
"The Human Junkpile."

Mr. Danskin Makes Inquiry.
Editor Journal:
In your editorial Saturday morning you bear down hard on the "iniquitous habit of carrying revolvers." Well, revolvers are allowed to be sold, so why criticize the habit of carrying them?

Intoxicating liquors are not even allowed to be sold in Jacksonville.
The popular vote has five times decided against the sale of liquors in Jacksonville.

Will you distinguish between the infringement of "personal liberty" involved in carrying revolvers (which are allowed to be sold) and carrying liquor (which is not allowed to be sold)?

Yours truly,
Jas. H. Danskin.

The Business Outlook.

It is the opinion of M. F. Dunlap that more prosperous times are really in sight for farmers, and that there is no good reason for uneasiness among farmers or land owners.
In conversation Saturday, about the general outlook Mr. Dunlap said: "I have been surprised at the downward tendency of live stock market during recent weeks but it seems to me that prices must have practically reached the bottom of the scale.
All indications point to a long continuance of the war in Europe. With such powerful nations as England and Germany in contention there will be no end until one or the other is very badly crippled. It seems now neither one of these nations could probably be persuaded to retire at this time or at any very early time.
Neither would be willing to make many great concessions unless, as I say, in a seriously crippled condition as regards to forces or finances.

"The demand in Europe for our wheat and other grain seems to be increasing and continued shipments are being made with a consequent upward tendency in prices. They are going to need meat over there, too, undoubtedly, and I can see no reason why the demand abroad and the demand at home will not result in higher prices for live stock. As a matter of fact the prices of grain are now very satisfactory and if increases come on live stock and still further increases on grain, certainly there should be prosperity in rich farming communities like the one in which Jacksonville is located. In districts where the land is poor and unproductive these market conditions at home and abroad might not have much effect, but with fertile land and with better results from this land because of an increasing tendency to use better methods, how can the farmer help but prosper?"

"It is an admitted fact that there has been a depression in the price of farm lands in the last two or three years, and this has naturally come about because of the short crops resulting from the unfavorable weather conditions, but with higher prices and larger production there should come a rise in farm values at least equal to the decline of the last two years. Money conditions have been considered as tight for several months, but there are evidences of some loosening up of the situation and the banks in cities are giving their customers more 'leeway' than in recent months. The probability that the Federal Reserve banking system will be in operation shortly is also having a good effect on monetary conditions and the effect will no doubt be still more marked later on."

"There isn't any special lack of money, but with the war coming on so suddenly naturally the financiers and the banks and the people with money were timid and everyone has been holding tight to what he has.
But with the passage of weeks and months of the conflict, and the indications that it will be long drawn out, also with the continued shipments which are discharging obligations abroad, confidence is taking the place of timidity and not only normal business conditions but better than normal should be with us very shortly."

In celebration of the opening of

has been lately finished up with all the main building. Eight pilot lamp boards have been installed for heavy duty purposes so that heating

The girls were busy all afternoon

Eighteenth Century Tips.
The tips or "valets" of the eighteenth century were by no means confined to nuns. One traveler through this country, La Plante, says that, after dining with a friend, "you'll find all the servants drawn up in the passage like a file of musketeers from the house steward down to the lowest dervy servant, and each of them holds out his hand to you in as deliberate a manner as the servants on the bus on the like occasion." The master of the house turned his head away, pretending not to be aware of what was going forward. Lord Harvey records that George II.'s queen thought it necessary to give valets in town as well as in the country, but the king told her she was a fool to do so—London Standard.

WITH GERMAN FIGHTING MACHINE BEFORE METZ

OBSERVATIONS OF ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT.

Armies at Work Like Some Great Industrial Undertaking With Machinery in Full Operation—Krupp Siege Guns Are Marvel of War.

With the German Army Before Metz, September 30, by courier to Holland and by mail to New York. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)

A five day trip to the front has taken the correspondent of The Associated Press through the German fortresses of Mayence, Saerbrücken and Metz, through the frontier regions between Metz and the French fortress line from Verdun to Toul, into the actual battle positions from which German and Austrian heavy artillery were pounding their eight and twelve inch shells into the French barrier forts and into the ranks of the French field army, which has replaced the crumbling fortifications of steel and cement with ramparts of flesh and blood.

Like Industrial Undertaking.
Impressions at the end are those of some great industrial undertaking with powerful machinery in full operation and endless supply trains bringing up the raw materials for fabrication, rather than of wars pictured.

From a point of observation on a hillside above St. Mihiel the great battlefield on which a German army is endeavoring to break through the line of barrier forts between Verdun and Toul and the opposing French forces could be surveyed in their entirety. In the foreground lay the level valley of the Meuse with the towns of St. Mihiel and Bannocourt nestling on the green landscape. Beyond and behind the valley rose a tier of hills on which the French at this writing obstinately hold an entrenched position, checking the point of the German wedge, while French forces from north and south beat upon the sides of the triangle trying to force it back across the Meuse and out from the vitals of the French fortress line.

Bursting shells threw up their columns of white or black fog around the edge of the panorama. Clouds of white smoke here and there showed a position was being brought under shrapnel fire. An occasional aeroplane could be picked out, hovering over the lines but the infantry and field battery could not be discerned, even with a high power field glass, so cleverly had the armies taken cover.

Show Heel Prints of War.
A few miles beyond Gorze the French frontier was passed and from this point on the country side, with its deserted farms, rotting shocks of wheat and uncut fields of grain, trampled down by infantry and scarred with trenches, excavations for batteries and pits caused by exploding shells, showed war's devastating heel prints.

Main army headquarters, the residence and working quarters of a commanding general whose name may not be mentioned were in Chateau Chambley, a fine French country house.

Telegrapher Always Ready.
At St. Benoit, five miles further on, a subordinate headquarters was encountered, again in a chateau belonging to a rich French resident. The continental soldier wastes no energy in transporting and setting up tented cities. No matter how fast or how far a German army moves a completely equipped telegraph office is ready for the army commander five minutes after headquarters have been established.

At St. Benoit a party of some 300 French prisoners was encountered, waiting outside headquarters. They were all fine young fellows, in striking contrast to the elderly reservist type which predominates in the German prison camps. They were evidently elite troops of the line and were treated almost with deference by their guards. They were the survivors of the garrison of the Roman Camp fort who had put up such a desperate and spirited defense as to win the whole-hearted admiration and respect of the German officers and men. Their armored tunics and cemented bastions, although constructed after the best rules of fortification of a few years ago, had been battered about their ears in an unexpectedly short time by German and Austrian siege artillery.

Make Brave Stand.
Their guns have been silenced and trenches were pushed up by an overwhelming force of pioneers and infantry to within five yards of their works before they retreated from the advanced intrenchments to the casemates of the forts. Here they maintained a stout resistance and refused every summons to surrender. Hand grenades were brought up, bound to a backing of boards and exploded and made opening in to the casemates, filling these with showers of steel splinters. Pioneers, creeping up to the dead-angle of the casemates where the fire of the defenders could not reach them, directed smoke tubes and stink pots against apertures in the citadel, filling the rooms with suffocating smoke and gases.

"Have you had enough?" they were asked after the first smoke treatment.

"No," was the defiant answer. Greeted with great respect, second and third time, the response to the demand for surrender each time growing weaker until finally the defenders were no longer able to raise their rifles and the fort was taken. When the survivors of the plucky garrison were revived they found their late opponents presenting arms before them in recognition of their gallant stand. They were greeted the most honorable terms of surrender, their officers were allowed to retain their swords and on their march toward an honorable captivity they were everywhere greeted with expressions of respect and admiration.

Beyond St. Benoit and Gote Lorraine a range of wooded hills running north and south along the east bank of the Meuse river in steeply terraced slopes several hundred feet from the frontier plain, interposing a natural rampart between Germany and the French line of fortresses beyond the Meuse. The French had fortified these slopes with successive rows of trenches, permitting line above line of infantry to fire against an advancing enemy. For days a desperate struggle was waged for the possession of the heights.

Vignettes Typical Village.
Vignettes, a village at the foot of the hillside, shot into ruins by artillery and with every standing bit of house wall scarred by bullet marks from the hand to hand conflict which had swayed to and fro in its streets, was typical of all the little stone built towns serving as outposts to this natural fortress which had been the scene of embittered attacks and counter-attacks before the German troops could fight their way up the hillsides.

The combat is still raging on this day from north and south against the segment of this range captured by the Germans. The French, massing their troops by forest paths from Verdun and Toul, throw them against the Germans in desperate endeavors to break the lines which protect the sites for the German siege artillery.

Big Krupps are Marvels.
The correspondent had no opportunity to inspect at close range the 16 1-2 inch guns, the "growlers" of Liege, Namur and other fortresses, which Krupp and the German army uncovered as the surprise of this war. They could be heard even from Metz, speaking at five minute intervals. A battery of them, dug into the ground so that only the gun muzzles projected above the pits, was observed in action at a distance of about a half mile the flash of flame being visible even at that distance.

It was the noon pause, but the lieutenant in charge of the guns, anxious to show them off to advantage, volunteered to telephone the battery commander, in his observation post four miles nearer the enemy, for permission to fire a shot or two against a village in which French troops were gathering for attack. This battery just had finished with Les Paroches, a French barrier fort across the Meuse and was not devoting its attention to such minor tasks. Only forts really counted, the lieutenant said, recalling Fort Manouvillers near Lunenburg, the strongest French barrier fort, which was the battery's first "bag" of the war. Its capture, thanks to his guns, had cost the German army only three lives, those of three pioneers accidentally killed by the fire of their own men.

In default of forts the guns were used against any "worthy target," a "worthy target" being defined as a minimum of fifty intrenchments.

Village is Destroyed.
At this moment the orderly reported that the battery commander authorized two shots against the village in question. At command the gun crew spring to their posts about the mortar, which was already adjusted for its target, a little less than six miles away, the gun muzzle pointing skyward at an angle of about sixty degrees. As the gun was fired, the projectile could be seen and followed in its course for several hundred feet. The report was not excessively loud.

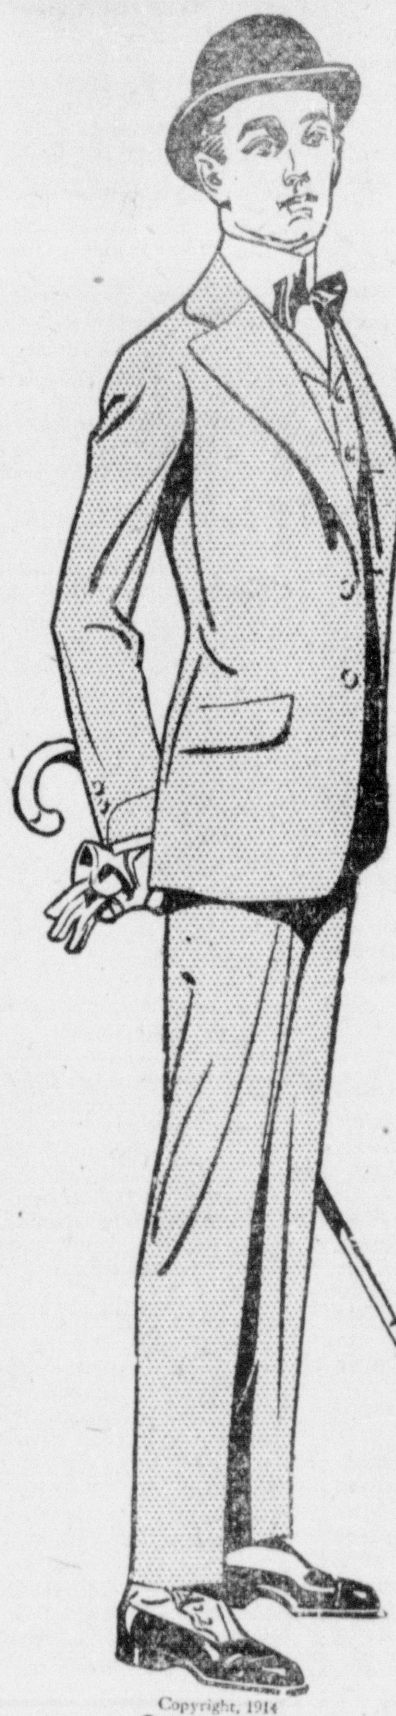

Before the report died away the crew was busy as bees about the gun. In less than thirty seconds the men sprang back from the gun, again leveled and aimed. A shell was fired and the observer from his post near the village ordered "next shot fifty meter nearer". The gun pointer made the slight correction necessary, the mortar again sent its shell purring the air against the village, which this time, it was learned, broke into flames and while the men went back to their noon hour rest the lieutenant explained the fine points of his beloved guns.

Graves Along Roadside.
Along the roadside through Lorraine were graves with rude crosses and pencilled inscriptions. At the western edge of the forest the battle panorama of the Meuse valley suddenly opened out, the hills falling away again steeply to the level valley floor. The towns below St. Mihiel and Bannocourt seemed deserted, not a person being visible even around the large barracks in the latter town.

A ten mile ride southward led to the position of the Austrian twelve inch battery. The two guns this time were planted by the side of the road, screened only, in front by a little wood but exposed to view from both sides, the rear and above. For this greater exposure the battery had paid correspondingly, several of its men having been killed or wounded by hostile fire. Here, as in the German batteries, the war work in progress went on with a machine like regularity.

The battery had been firing all day at Fort Ligneville and the battery commander was then endeavoring to put off action the only guns current which still answered the fire. The task of finding this comparative minute target, forty or fifty feet in diameter, at a range of six miles, was being followed with minute accuracy.

The shells from these guns start on their course with a characteristic minute long shriek which seems to come from the shell itself screaming on towards its destination. The battery chief invited close watch of the atmosphere a hundred yards before the gun at the next shot. Not only could the projectile be seen plainly in the beginning of its flight but the waves of billowing air, rushing back to fill the void left by the discharge and bounding and rebounding in a sort of gas, could be distinctly heard. This airy commotion caused the sound heard for over a minute.

HENWOOD HANGING AGAIN DELAYED.

Defendant Granted an Extension of Time For Filing Application for Re-hearing.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 24.—The week of October 25th, named by the Supreme Court as the time for Harold F. Henwood to hang, will pass without the sentence being executed. Henwood, who is under sentence of death for the killing of George E. Copeland, and who has been denied a third trial by the state supreme court has been granted by Attorney General Farrar an extension of time for the filing of an application for a rehearing of the case. Present indications point to a long delay, for Henwood's lawyers have planned to take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States, on exceptions, should a third trial be denied.

The shooting created a sensation in Denver. Henwood and Sylvester Von Phil an aeronaut, had quarreled over the letters written to Von Phil by Mrs. Isabelle Paterson Springer, then the wife of John Springer, a wealthy stockman and banker. The two men were in a bar room of a Denver hotel, Henwood fired at Von Phil and in the melee, Copeland, who was standing nearby was fatally shot. The shooting occurred the night of May 21, 1911.

Von Phil was a school mate of the former Mrs. Springer, and had been a suitor for her hand. He met her again while she was visiting in St. Louis, and followed her to Denver afterwards. Henwood was enamored of the woman, and a bitter jealousy sprang up between them. In the pockets of Von Phil after the shooting were found torn photos of Henwood which had been sent by the latter to Mrs. Springer.

At the first trial Henwood was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. The supreme court granted him a new trial, which resulted in a first degree verdict.

Less than two weeks after the shooting, John M. Springer, the husband of the woman in the case was granted a divorce.

The Real Reason

"This war inevitable was," the candid monarch cries; "there's no use hunting for the cause, when it's before your eyes. For years and years, with frantic haste, we've piled up armament; and could we let it go to waste, the money we have spent? We've drilled about five million men, with endless pain and toil, and could we let them idly then go back and till the soil? Our colonels and the other chaps were all athirst for war and asked us, 'If you arm a man with guns and knives, and let for strife will grow, and he will take some other's lives, unless he drops it is own. And we have armed until we limped beneath this burden punk; for years we saved and slaved and, skimped to buy the warlike junk. We taxed the man of humble birth until he groaned aloud; we taxed him when he tilled the earth, we taxed him in his shroud. We robbed the farmer of his oats, the ditcher of his moan, despoiled the herdsman of his goats, to buy a modern gun. And having lined with trench and forts the rivers and the woods, we simply had to scrap old sport, to show we had the goods."

Blood Sufferers Want to Know

The Light is Turned on to a Subject of Darkness.

The mere fact that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, drives out disease is a world's story, a topic of conversation wherever men get together. They wonder why, simply because most remedies are mystified and put before them as "discoveries." The facts are that we pay too much attention to possibilities and not enough to real, homespun accomplishment. S. S. S. is a remedy of our fathers. It has a history that is written deeply in men's minds because it has done the work, driven out deep seated disease, revived hope, put the O. K. on appearance and clamped down tight any effect of germs to get the upper hand. Any sore spot on the skin is an immediate demand for S. S. S. since the first principle of this famous remedy is to strike out for places of trouble. This is a physiological fact and S. S. S. is true to the workings of our body.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any drugist and begin blood health. It will master any blood disease and do it in a way to emphasize its influence. And if you would like definite advice write The Swift Specific Co., 56 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is where most people first seek advice that puts them on the straight road.

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

MARCONS DEFEAT BOILERMAKERS 21 TO 0

CHICAGO TRIUMPHS OVER PURDUE BY STRAIGHT FOOTBALL.

Ragged Exhibition of the Modern Game—Purdue Efforts Make the Game Spectacular—Illinois Second Team Defeats Northwestern 33 to 0—Yale Defeated by Washington and Jefferson—Penn State Holds Harvard to Tie.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Playing with old time dash and daring, Chicago's gridiron champions swept Purdue's stalwarts off their feet in the crucial battle on Stag field today. In a triumph of old "straight football", helped by the best of the breaks in luck, the Maroons downed the Boilermakers 21 to 0.

What there was of the modern game had only a ragged exhibition. Of the score of attempts at forward passes, Purdue tried, all but two or three were failures and one, intercepted by Sparks of Chicago, for an 87 yard run and touchdown, was disastrous. Still, the Purdue efforts made the game spectacular and there was always the chance that one of its desperate shots would go straight.

The game was rough as well as ragged. Penalties and substitutions were frequent. The Purdue team was hardly over the effects of its tough game with the Badgers.

Navy, 48; Western Reserve, 0. Annapolis, Md., Oct. 24.—Showing form which was sadly missing during their last two games, Navy today overwhelmed Western Reserve University of Cleveland 48 to 0.

The visitors were outclassed throughout but it was in the last two periods that the Midsea made their pace tell. A feature of Navy's marked improvement was the exceptional work of Miles, a new man at quarter.

Wisconsin, 7; Ohio, 6. Columbus, O., Oct. 24.—Wisconsin and Ohio state played a clean, fast western conference game today at Ohio field in which the Invaders won 7 to 6. Each team made a touchdown in the second quarter and Quarterback Bellows kicked goal, something Captain Graff of Ohio failed to do.

Illinois, 33; Northwestern, 0. Evanston, Ill., Oct. 24.—Illinois sent a team of second string men against Northwestern today and rolled up 33 points in the first half. Coach Zuppke further diluted his line with third string substitutes in the second half and this outfit was unable to score, while Northwestern near the end carried the ball in a series of forward passes for 86 yards. Illinois however held on the four yard line. The final score was 33 to 0.

Pennsylvania, 7; Carlisle, 0. Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—Two forward passes greatly aided Pennsylvania in defeating the Carlisle Indian football team on Franklin field today by 7 to 0. The Redmen outplayed the Pennsylvanians in the first half and the Quakers were lucky that Carlisle did not score on them. A fumble on a poorly executed play saved the Pennsylvania team several times.

The Indians fairly carried Pennsylvania off its feet at the beginning of the play but there was almost a complete reversal of form in the last two periods. The single touchdown of the game came in the last period.

Washington and Jefferson 13, Yale 7. New Haven, Conn., Oct. 24.—Washington and Jefferson's sturdy eleven playing brilliant football, furnished the first real surprise of the season here by defeating Yale today 13 to 7, in a game filled with drama. The visitors smothered the Yale attack after the first period, in a spigot and piecing, Washington and Jefferson had two of the best open field runners seen on Yale field in years. Yale's line, without the services of Captain Talbot was outplayed.

Washington and Jefferson made eighteen first downs against Yale's 14.

Harvard, 13; Penn State, 13. Cambridge, Conn., Oct. 24.—Harvard narrowly escaped defeat today by the Pennsylvania State college team which outplayed the Crimson in all departments of the game.

The score was a tie, 13 to 13. The visitors outplayed, outkicked and outmaneuvered the Crimson but just a chance for victory through two costly fumbles.

Pennsylvania State rushed 51 times for 173 gain while the Crimson layers made but 95 yards on 72 rushes. Pennsylvania State had six first downs while Harvard made out two.

Princeton, 16; Dartmouth, 12. Princeton, Oct. 24.—Princeton opened the new Palmer memorial stadium here today with a 16 to 12 victory over Dartmouth. The game was crowded with thrills. Dartmouth had a powerful attack but the Princeton line proved equal to the task of holding it. Princeton's attack was purely open, always sticking in her own territory. Ghee scored the first touchdown for Dartmouth on a 75 yard run and the last rally came when two successful forward passes placed it on the four yard line whence Curtis carried it over.

Ames, 6; Missouri, 0. Columbia, Mo., Oct. 24.—Line bucks and a 35-yard end run by Moss netted a touchdown for Ames here today, enough to win from Missouri by 6 to 0. Moss was the star ground gainer for the town and many times had the ball in scoring distance but blunders in using the forward pass prevented them from scoring. The Missouri aggregation was outplayed from the start. Ames offensive plays bewildering the Missourians, who were outweighed seven pounds to the man.

THE EVERY-MEMBER CANVAS. On Tuesday, Oct. 27th, the men of Grace church will make a canvas of the entire membership of the church to secure the annual pledges for the current expenses and the benevolences. The city is divided into ten districts. Over each district is placed a captain with his crew of workers. On Monday night the men will meet at the church for luncheon at 6:30 and after the luncheon will make their plans for the campaign on Tuesday. About 70 men will assist in the every member canvas on Tuesday. It is very important that as far as possible arrangements be made at the homes of the people to give a response to the canvassers concerning the pledges. The entire canvas can be made with hearty co-operation. Tuesday, Oct. 27th, is the day.

LIVESTOCK PRICES SHOW DOWNWARD TENDENCY

Extra Heavy Receipts Given as the Cause for the Lower Levels—Butcher Stock in Very Bad Shape.

Alexander, Ward & Conover in reviewing the Chicago livestock market for the week have the following to say:

Beef Cattle.—The arrival of 30,005 cattle here on Monday was a great surprise to the trade, especially after the bad close of last week. The market was pretty badly demoralized, as the run of cattle was heavy at all western and eastern markets, and about all kinds sold unevenly lower except a few double extra lots on the show-cattle order.

Wednesday's official receipts were 18,491. Very few good to choice corn-fed cattle in the arrivals, and that kind sold 15c higher than Monday. Nothing here as good as the top cattle Monday, which sold for $10.95. Common and medium cattle slow sale at prices not much different from Monday.

Thursday's receipts 5,427. There were no good to choice cattle in the arrivals, and buyers all seemed to want that kind. Had there been any they would have sold 15c higher than Wednesday.

The four days' receipts at Chicago 62,300, the largest run since last December. Four days' receipts at the six western markets 298,000, but the proportion of good to choice corn fed cattle at these markets was very light, consisting principally of western rangers, Kansas grassers and southern cattle, an exceedingly heavy supply of canners and trashy stuff from the southern states, the supply of that kind being especially heavy at St. Louis.

We think without a doubt that the supply of well-fatted corn cattle to be marketed during the next sixty days is exceedingly light, and we believe they will all be wanted at comparatively high prices. We also believe that at the end of the range seasons the medium and short-fed cattle that have had such a sharp decline during the last few weeks will be in much better demand and sell better.

Stocks and Feeders.—The supply of stockers and feeders was heavy the first of the week and the market unevenly lower except for the strictly choice kinds. Choice yearlings and choice calves have sold at steady prices during the week and strictly choice feeders have shown very little if any decline, but the good to pretty good and the common kinds have sold unevenly lower. Choice calves and choice light and medium weight cattle are the scarcest on the market right now.

Butcher stock.—The butcher market is closing in very bad shape this week. Killers have hammered prices to the very limit and conditions in the trade cannot be expected to improve until the heavy rains let up.

Medium to good cows 40@50c lower for the week; medium to good heifers 50@60c lower. Good to choice cows and heifers 25c lower. Canners 25@40c lower. Strictly choice yearlings steady, but such grades are so scarce now as to be no criterion.

Bull trade shows relatively much better action than the cow and heifer deal. It was a quiet, steady trade for bulls this week and prices for the bulk of the crop little different than a week ago.

Top on veal calves $11. Good heavy calves 25c lower and medium and rough calves a drag on the market.

Hogs.—Hog receipts increased 25,000 head this week, compared with last, the cause being that Chicago was by far the best of all the western markets, and we have had lots of hogs from close to Omaha and Kansas City.

We had a steady decline Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Prices were lower on Wednesday, but packers bought them as though the prices were satisfactory, and paid 5@10c higher on Thursday. Friday's market was also firm, and it seems to be the general opinion around the yards that the recent decline is checked. Prices have gotten down where there has been a demand created, and the last couple of days all classes of hog buyers have been in the market. Friday's market was stronger and they bought up the hogs. Top is $7.50, bulk of the hogs $7.50@7.50. The range in prices has narrowed down and there is nothing much selling under $7.20 that has any fat, unless pigs. This class of stuff got a little eye last week owing to oversupply, but there is a let up in the receipts of pigs and they are selling fairly well again, the P. at $6.25@7.65, with some at $7 and a little higher.

Light butcher-weight hogs enjoy the best demand and probably will continue to do so for a while.

There will be lots of light stuff and half-fat stuff marketed for a while, due to the high price of corn.

Many hog feeders are in doubt whether to feed their spring crop of pigs or market them. There is no doubt a large crop of young stuff in the country, and early marketing is going to sure make a scarcity of good matured hogs late this winter and spring, and we believe the man who feeds them out will be the winner.

New Voting Precincts of Jacksonville are Designated

ELECTION PRECINCTS
OF THE
CITY OF JACKSONVILLE
MORGAN COUNTY, I.L.L.

Because of the legal requirement which limits the number of voters in each precinct the city council sometime since caused City Engineer Henderson to draw a plat redistricting the city into sixteen voting precincts instead of eight. An ordinance describing the boundaries in a legal way was adopted but later a slight change was made in the boundaries of the first precinct and an amended ordinance will be adopted and will become effective at the next city election. The increased number of precincts was necessitated by the fact that suffrage has been given to women. The new boundaries as agreed upon and as shown in the map are described as follows:

Why Don't You Abandon That Rented Farm?

Why don't you get into the dairy business on your own hook? I can put you in touch with owners of rich prairie lands in Western Nebraska and Eastern Colorado which you can buy, on easy terms, at from $15 to $40 per acre, with financial aid, if you are a practical farmer. You are sure to make money in modern dairy practice with fodder crops and the silo—the solution of the dairy business. Feed crops are heavy. You can dig a silo to start with, if necessary. These lands adjoin farms whose 1914 crop will bring more than the land cost a few years ago. Come out and see for yourself—you don't have to take my word for it—and advertising cannot tell you. Write me about location. The Burlington employs me to help you.

We've Been Talking to You for Several Months ABOUT MONEY.

Altho hundreds of Jacksonville people have taken advantage of our low rates, long time, easy payment plan of loaning MONEY, we know there are many more who could use a few extra dollars to good advantage but hesitate to call for some imaginary reason. You may think it difficult matter to draw MONEY of us, that we ask you a lot of embarrassing questions, or go nosing around among your relatives or friends to find out all about you. We do nothing of the sort. We simply LOAN you the MONEY on your own name without asking any one to sign with you, and only ask a lien on your Furniture, Piano, Fixtures or other personal effects as an evidence of good faith on your part, you pay us back in small weekly or monthly payments and that's all there is to it. We have a long time lease no office room and have it fitted up in a business like way. A call will convince you that we are reliable and we assure you pleasant and courteous treatment whether you use our MONEY or not.

PRIOR to 1880 there was no organization, no regulation of hours or shop conditions in the cigar industry. Chaos reigned. Health was bad. Pay was poor. Hours were long and employment unsteady. In addition, the influence of labor in securing remedial legislation was lacking, owing to lack of organization. The birth and growth of the American labor movement brought with it, through its economic strength and its legislative influence the remedial legislation, both in the union and governmental bodies, which has shown remarkable results as regards health in our industries.

The following is taken from a report made by International President Perkins to the membership of the C. M. I. U. of A. It is a compilation of statistics gathered from the locals of the organization in the United States, Canada and Porto Rico. The figures are eminently correct and reliable. They indicate results obtained in the standard of health in the cigar industry through organization.

"In 1888, two years after the adoption of the eight-hour work day, 50 per cent of the deaths that year were caused by tuberculosis.
"In 1910, the total number of deaths was 588, of which number tuberculosis claimed 126, or 21 1/2 per cent.

TYPHOID FEVER CAUSED

MRS. KENNEDY'S DEATH

Coroner's Verdict in the Case Based on Information Supplied by Physicians' Post Mortem Examination.

The inquiry into the death of Mrs. J. M. Kennedy conducted by a coroner's jury, was completed Saturday, and according to the verdict rendered Mrs. Kennedy came to her death from typhoid fever. The language of the verdict was as follows: "We, the undersigned jurors sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of Mrs. Dessie Kennedy, do find that the said Mrs. Dessie Kennedy, deceased, came to her death as a result of typhoid fever. We further find that her death was probably hastened on account of her removal from Passavant hospital at a time when she was in a critical condition. We further exonerate all parties concerned."

As stated yesterday an autopsy was held, acting upon the order of the coroner's jury, and the formal report of this inquiry was made before the jury Saturday morning shortly after nine o'clock by Dr. A. M. King, who conducted it. He gave testimony which covered the investigation made at the post mortem, and his statement in substance was that unmistakable evidence of typhoid fever were found.

Dr. Ogram again took the stand and testified as to the earlier sickness of Mrs. Kennedy when he attended her last January. Other witnesses were Dr. H. H. Beverly and Dr. A. H. Kinnelbrew, Miss Carrie Guthrie and Miss Elizabeth O'Keefe, nurses at Passavant hospital.

Dr. Kinnelbrew related the incidents relating to the removal of Mrs. Kennedy from Passavant to the Home sanatorium, and said that the patient was unconscious when she reached the sanatorium, that it was not advisable to make an examination in order to arrive at a diagnosis of her disease and that no such examination was made. The nurses from the hospital testified that Mrs. Kennedy's condition was serious when she was removed from the hospital and that she had been unconscious a considerable time prior to that date. Other testimony was introduced also to indicate that Mrs. Kennedy was in an unconscious state on the Sunday before the Wednesday of her removal from the hospital.

Dr. Beverly testified as to the postmortem and his statement was that the ulcers in the intestines which other physicians declared unmistakable evidence of typhoid, might have resulted from some other cause.

After considering all the testimony, the jury returned the verdict as already set forth, and held no one to blame for the death of Mrs. Kennedy. In their opinion her death was the result of typhoid, and was probably hastened by her removal from Passavant hospital when the disease was at a critical stage.

RENFAK MUSICAL PICTURES

COMING TO SCOTT'S

New Invention in Films Will be Seen Next Saturday.

The Renfak Musical Pictures will be offered at the Scott theatre next Saturday, Oct. 31, as an added attraction. This invention is the result of years of experiments by W. E. Tabor, an inventive genius and marks a new era in the realm of motion photography. The first presentation was made in New York in the films are now being shown in that city with great success at a score of theatres.

This style of entertainment is a distinct novelty and seems to have caught the public fancy. The pictures sing and dance, and the action is at all times suited to the word. The synchronization of sound and action is perfect and moving picture fans will see big musical numbers and vaudeville acts produced in a manner that is charmingly realistic.

The New York Herald said: "At the Alhambra Theatre they gave an exhibition of something new in theatricals, the Renfak Musical Motion Pictures, the invention of Mr. W. E. Tabor."

"By an ingenious device it is arranged that there can be no action of the lips without a corresponding vocal sound from a so-called singing machine. This effect, the producers explain, is gained by the use of compressed air passing through cotton-throated tubes, which gives unusual power to the voice, allowing it to be heard distinctly in any part of the theatre. Several musical numbers were produced in this way yesterday. Eventually, it is said, entire musical comedy productions can be reproduced very inexpensively."

F. C. TANNER A POWER IN NATIONAL POLITICS

FORMER JACKSONVILLE MAN NOW LEADS GREAT NEW YORK REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

Succeeds William Barnes of Albany in the Important Post—Story of Young Man's Ascent to Country Wide Prominence Has Something of the Romantic Interwoven.

The New York Times gives a lengthy and very interesting story of the personal and political history of Frederick C. Tanner who was recently chosen chairman of the Republican central committee of the State of New York, one of the most powerful political organizations in the United States. The story of Mr. Tanner's rapid rise will be read with interest here in his home where he has countless friends. The article is suggestive too in that it indicates something of the changes that are taking place in New York politics.

By Richard Barry.

The pertinent facts are these: 1. A few days ago the State Committee of the Republican Party in New York chose as its chairman to fill the chair just vacated by William Barnes of Albany, a young man of 36, practically unknown to the public at large.

2. This very young man finds himself at the head of an organization of 522,000 enrolled voters which has been bedeviled from within and routed from without. He finds himself opposed by two political forces, the Tammany organization and Theodore Roosevelt.

3. He has one short month in which to reorganize the old organization and plant its candidate, Charles S. Whitman, in the Governor's chair at Albany.

That is, I submit a full-sized man's job. To attempt it is distinction; to accomplish it will mean much to him.

This new State Chairman, Frederick C. Tanner, has told me how he expects to perform the task, but before he is quoted permit me to draw his portrait and tell of his romance.

Yes, he has a romance. It is the romance of the adventurous, reckless boy, of the poor young man, of the struggling, ill-paid young attorney, of the proud ambitions, eager man held in restraint by a heritage of good blood. This romance of accomplishment—a typical American romance—will be interesting material for his political biographers if they arise.

His father was Edward A. Tanner, President of Illinois college, in which position he died in 1892, leaving a boy of 13 poor. He worked his way through college and got his degree when he was 19.

In those early days Tanner lived in a political atmosphere. His next door neighbor on one side was Richard Yates, later Governor of Illinois, and in the same block lived William J. Bryan.

In fact, Bryan did his courting in the Tanner home, and was married there to the elder Tanner. To this day William J. Bryan and Frederick Tanner are devoted friends though politically they agree in hardly anything. Tanner is proud of the fact that he has never voted for a Democrat. Yet, whenever he is in Washington, he visits the Bryans in their home, and on his Connecticut farm he has a prize pig which the Secretary of State sent him from his farm at Fairview, while on his Nebraska land Bryan cultivates seed sent him by Tanner from Westport, Conn.

At 13 Tanner started West. Within a few months he was teaching Latin and mathematics in the high school in Pueblo, Colo. However, that was no life for a professor's son. He lasted at it only a few months, when he took to the range and earned his living at the rate of $19 a month ("and found") as a cowboy.

Was a Man of the Open

I could insert here quite a bit of atmosphere and adventure by drawing on Owen Wister's "The Virginian," Theodore Roosevelt's "The Winning of the West" &c. He picked all that into a year and a half of vivid life on the ranges and in the mining camps of Colorado. He forsook the towns and lived in the open. He worked successfully for the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and as Superintendent of a distant ranch.

You can see it in him now—a bit of the cowboy, even as he sits there on Thirty-ninth Street, flanked by the pictures of his predecessors, Benjamin Odell and William Barnes. He has the lathy, lean look of the plainsman; the quiet confidence, the surety, the poise. He is not the sort of fellow with whom you would voluntarily pick a fight. A stage director would easily pick him as the type to play Faversham parts on the road.

There are plenty of stories of what he did out West. I may tell them after election—if Whitman wins. When he was twenty, Tanner felt within him the rumblings of ambition, and came to call on the big town with the assurance that he was willing to be chosen by fate for high and exalted places. If statistics serve us right about 370,000 others also came that year.

The republican organization took no note of him the first year. His earnings for the first six months were at the rate of nothing per week, and for the second six months he received $5 per week.

Woodford Helped Him.

Have patience! This is not the story of the friendless young man in the great city. He had a cousin here, Stewart L. Woodford, once Lieutenant-Governor of this State, a Brigadier General during the civil war and during the Spanish war Minister to Madrid.

General Woodford took young Tanner into his law office. Tanner attended the night school of the University of the City of New York, where he was the president of his class in 1900 and 1901. He was a likable lad, reserved, but with a cordial smile hinting of the sincerity and strength and optimism of the West. And with it he had the tact and knowledge of individuals which are so helpful toward success.

For the past fourteen years Tanner has been in the place working and advancing. From nothing a week in the outer office he has risen to be the second member of the firm of Woodford, Bovee & Butcher, and from his office, which covers the entire twenty-third floor of the straggling tower, he looks down upon the richest city in the world. In politics, also, he has risen from the ranks until, for the past three and a half years, he has been successively chosen the leader of his Assembly District, the Twenty-fifth, located in the region bounded by the Bowery, Bleeker Street, Seventh and Eighth Avenues and the Tenderloin.

There has been little of the spectacular in Tanner's recent career. He has been a constant follower of politics within the organization. He believes that under the present constitution of society practically nothing can be achieved without organization, and that in politics as on a battlefield the modern way to victory is paved weeks and months before the contest. In this sense he is an organization man, and he is so practically and so firmly an organization man, that since he has been leader of the Twenty-fifth the district has polled a higher percentage of Republican votes than any other district in the county. He owes this to the fact that he has imbued into the minds of a group of college men who have rallied him the belief that the only way to achieve victory at the polls is to be in touch with the voters for twelve months of the year, and to maintain that organization faithfully.

Years ago Fred Tanner said to me: "Tammany is a mixture of good and evil. It is able to perpetrate evil by reason of the good it does, and there is only one way to beat Tammany, and that is to do good as well. One does not also have to perpetrate the evil. Tammany's greatest hold on its followers is the sense of social cheer it inculcates, a feeling of clanishness, of fellowship. Only a cynic will assert that graft is the strongest incentive practice. He has organized his district on the lines of fellowship and close clanishness, and he has a fine Republican organization there."

The Twenty-fifth is a typically New York district. It embraces every class. It holds many of the so called silk stocking element, but it is numerically stronger in Irish, Italians, Greeks, Slavs, Turks, Russians and negroes. It harbors Charles S. Whitman and Ogden Mills, but they are outnumbered a hundred to one by the units such as formerly have been the centre of Tammany strength. It is this diverse unit which Tanner has welded into a victorious political organization. He has beaten Tammany on her own ground, and without using a dollar of gift money or a public job. For his organization does not depend on money, and he has had no job to give.

Handled Whitman Campaign.

It is not rather an interesting and picturesque achievement for a cowboy son of a Western college President to come into Charles F. Murphy's own ballwick and beat him at his own game—and emerge clean-handed and with a clean name?

Whitman knew of Tanner's peculiar talent for organization, of his inborn gift of political acumen, and of his poised personality which is so successful in reconciling warring factions. For this reason he asked him to be his manager in the primary campaign, and he made good.

It was Whitman who forced the State Committee to name Tanner as its Chairman, despite the fact that Tanner had insistently refused to consider the office. For three years past Tanner has been urged by Republicans to become Chairman of the County Committee, but he has always refused to be a candidate.

His reason for refusal has always been the same—poverty. "I am a poor man," said Tanner, "and a poor man cannot afford to be a boss. He cannot afford to take the time from the practice of his profession, and if later in his profession he should make money there is always the opportunity of his enemies to say he made it somewhere else."

So when I found him in Barnes's chair at headquarters he threw up his hands and said: "They got me. I had to take it, and now that I'm here I'm going to fight right and day until election. It is a pleasure, a luxury I can ill afford—this fight—but I have given myself no indulgences nor any vacation for some years past, and so I will let this month's fight count for both."

Meanwhile the report is being spread that Tanner is a Barnes man, that he is a mere figurehead in the chair that Barnes held, and that he will execute the will of Barnes.

But it does not gibe with the facts. Less than a year ago on the floor of the Waldorf at the conference of the New York State Republicans Tanner proposed a constitutional amendment for the short ballot against the heated protest of Barnes, which he answered, "but which did not cause him to recede from his position. In the National Conventions of 1908 and 1912 Tanner, first as an alternate and then as a delegate, stood at all times for Hughes and thus distinctly against Barnes. Tanner was the first prominent Republican in New York to rise against Taft, and so against Barnes.

But that does not mean that Tanner refuses to listen to Barnes. He frankly declares that he considers Barnes one of the ablest men in politics today and that, while he frequently disagrees, he always has the sincerest respect for the opinion of his predecessor.

"I am certainly willing to listen to the counsel of Mr. Barnes," said the new Chairman to me, "but he is no longer Chairman of this committee."

If Tanner were a Barnes man, the Parsons faction would not have turned for him. As it is, he went into office with the support of both.

Which seems a betting statement for a tactful young man who cannot afford to lose a single big county if he wants to win the election. There are sixty-two counties in the State, and he must reconcile the warring factions in all of them if he hopes to win.

"What is your programme for the campaign?" I asked him. "We have two opponents," he answered, "Roosevelt and the Tammany machine. We are against a combination of Theodore Roosevelt, William Randolph Hearst, and Charles F. Murphy. Those three men are working toward exactly the same purpose. It gives me pleasure to be in a fight to the finish against them."

"We shall attack the Democratic machine in the very point where it makes its greatest front. It will not be hard to riddle the so-called economy of Governor Glynn. Whitman is a great prosecutor and he knows how to handle facts and to show up guilty persons. When he starts after the Glynn regime the people will have a perfect revelation of the manner of the inner workings of the present Democratic Governor."

Glynn and Murphy.

"Gov. Glynn has been a thorough Murphy man. Every office that has patronage has been filled by Murphy men. He has even permitted an ex-convict to remain in a place of high public trust; has failed to secure an effective investigation of highway frauds, although recommended by as staunch a Democrat as James W. Osborne, his commission. Gov. Glynn has as a running mate on his ticket, today Mr. Bense, who recently refused to testify before the Grand Jury on the ground that it might incriminate him and against whom the same Grand Jury found a scathing presentment. In place of the economy which Mr. Glynn attempts to demonstrate by juggling figures and bookkeeping devices we will find that he has actually brought the state to the verge of bankruptcy and failed to stop the looting of the State's Treasury."

"When the history of this campaign is finished we will find that there will be only two parties in this State instead of three, that Theodore Roosevelt will be no longer a force but only a memory in politics, and that the Republican Party will take its place again as the best medium of public service. That is it—personal sincerity and public service. That is all there is to public morality, and if I can contribute to the restoration of that I will be more than satisfied."

HARVARD MAY IGNORE TEN MILLION OFFER.

Boston, Oct. 24.—When the Harvard corporation meets on Monday, it is expected by members of the faculty that the $10,000,000 tentative offer of Capt. Clarence Wiener of London, conditioned on the elimination of Prof. Hugo Munsterberg from the Harvard faculty, will be completely ignored, and the resignation of Prof. Munsterberg which he tendered last week will not be accepted. The Munsterberg incident, which came about through the psychologist's activity in defending the German emperor and his attitude in this present war, is considered a gigantic hoax here. That an American university should drop a member of its faculty for a financial bait was a farcical proposition, and as Wiener is not believed to have the cash to begethate, the joke was a good one. Then the professor complicated matters by resigning, and this action has caused no little adverse comment among Harvard men. The regrettable part of the hoax is the attitude of the Harvard professor, who took the opportunity of getting himself again into the limelight.

A WOMAN DOCTOR.

"Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood." This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood, would only rely, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs—to restore the system to a normal healthy condition, it would cause many ills from which they suffer to disappear, so that motherhood might become the joy of their lives.—Adv.

WILL SEEK OUT LARGEST TREES IN UNITED STATES

Genetic Society Offers Cash Prizes to Create Interest in Trees—Study Will Prove Valuable.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Foresters of the United States are interested in the announcement recently made by the American Genetic Association that two prizes of $100 each have been offered for two photographs—one of the largest tree of a nut-bearing variety in the United States, and one of the largest broad-leaf tree which does not bear edible seeds. In the first class, for example are included trees such as chestnut, oak, walnut, butternut, and pecan; and in the second, trees such as elm, birch, maple, cottonwood and tulip poplar. No photographs of cone-bearing trees are wanted, since it is definitely known that the California linal trees have no rivals among conifers. At a later time the association may take up the same question as between the various kinds of conifers—as pines, spruces, firs, cedars and cypresses.

The purpose of the competition, as stated by the association, is to find out in what regions the native trees attain their largest growth, and under what conditions they show up growth. When these trees are located and the measurements authenticated, the association hopes that it may be possible to secure seeds, cuttings, or grafting wood from the thrifty trees in the region where they grow, to see whether finer specimens may be propagated in other parts of the country. It is hoped in this manner to get some particularly choice strains of native trees established in regions where good specimens are not now found.

The Influence of Heredity.

It is assumed by the association that seed from the region where the largest trees grow ought to produce larger and stronger trees than from regions where only small trees are found. By finding out where the large trees are and then planting seeds from them in other locations, the association hopes to demonstrate the practical value to horticulture and forestry of the laws of heredity. Now that reforestation is becoming a pressing problem, the question of seed trees which will produce particularly good offspring is naturally coming to the fore.

Other influences, of course, will have a bearing on the subject, and the results of the investigation may help to settle the question as to whether trees can be acclimated. Even if they can not, there may be cases where trees in a new environment may make better growth than the best in their native range. This is said to be true of certain of the Australian eucalypts, and of the Monterey pine which does not amount to much in its native location in California but has proved of great value in New Zealand.

The federal forest service has conducted some studies along this line and has discovered, for example, that the Douglas fir of the Rocky Mountains and the Douglas fir of the Pacific coast, while the same species, have different characteristics and will produce trees like the parent stock, modified somewhat, however, by environment. For example, if the two forms are planted together, during the earlier period of its life at least, the Pacific Coast form will make a larger and stronger growth than the Rocky Mountain tree, provided it is not affected by adverse local conditions.

Several other questions, such as the climatic requirements of trees grown in different localities, will, of course, enter into the final solution of the problem. It has been found in Germany, for example, that the Pacific Coast form of Douglas fir is not as hardy as the Rocky Mountain form, which has to endure in its native habitat severe extremes of temperature, and German foresters have been working to discover a strain of Douglas fir which will combine as far as possible, the hardiness of the Rocky Mountain form and the large size of the Pacific Coast form.

Trees are Fastidious.

Some authorities go so far as to say that even the ingenuity and perseverance of man are unable to induce trees to change their habits far enough to adopt a country not closely like their native habitat.

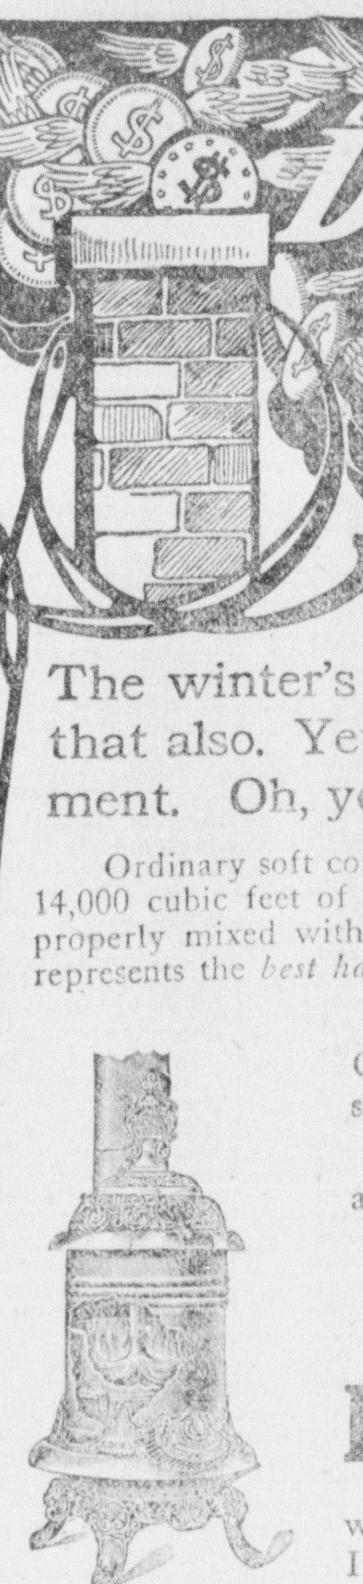

This fastidiousness in the habits has its good and its bad sides, they say. It absolutely limits the forester's choice of trees to grow in a given region. But, on the other hand, there is practical certainty of results if beech or spruce thrive where the average warmth and moisture of the growing season from year to year ranges between certain degrees, then wherever the same average is found, in the northern hemisphere at least, the forester may plant beech or spruce, whether or not they are already there, with confidence that they will flourish.

The announced purpose of the Genetic Association is to bring about the dissemination of seed or stock of the best specimens when found, to demonstrate, if possible, the value of heredity in tree growing. The contest for the $100 photographs is announced to end on July 1, 1915, on which date, says the secretary of the Genetic Association in Washington, the offer will terminate.

ECONOMY DAY IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 24.—"Economy Day" will be held in every county in South Carolina some day in November. Plans for the occasion are nearing completion. The purpose of the day will be to bring home to people the need for personal economy and its value at this time and at all times.

In each county a speaker of prominence will deliver an address at the county seat, all the addresses to be along the same channels of thought. The farmers will be told the practical ways in which economy can be enforced in their homes and in their farm work.

Do Your Dollars Fly up the Flue?

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat is CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

NOT HOW CHEAP, BUT HOW GOOD!

We are not in the furnace business to see how cheap we can build them. The trade of cheapening is one we never served in apprenticeship. It isn't worth a candle. The only way to get satisfaction out of furnace work is to do it as well as it can be done. We don't claim to have the cheapest furnace, but we do claim to give you more than you can obtain elsewhere. You must not lose sight of the fact that in buying a cheap furnace you pay for what you get, and since the dealer who sells cheap furnaces makes as much profit as the one who puts up a good one, there is a great temptation to use the cheap price as a bait.

The hot air system of heating is growing in popular favor every day because it gives the most perfect circulation and greatest amount of pure fresh air. If you want a perfectly heated home let us install a

FAVORITE BASE BURNERS

FOR WINTER COMFORT

"It's all in the flues"

"Finest Heating Stove in the World"

Have You Seen This Poster?

It Tells the Story of a Wonderful Heating Stove

We wanted you to get acquainted with the Favorite Base Burner—that's why we had the city covered with these beautiful colored posters that you see everywhere.

We knew that if you once became familiar with the superior points of the Favorite as compared with other base burners—learned that it actually has no equal in beauty, durability, and fuel-economy—you would buy no other heating stove.

The Favorite will keep every part of your house warm all winter, and do it with from 2 to 3 tons of coal. Every square inch of this unequalled stove radiates volumes of heat which constantly circulates throughout the home, maintaining an even temperature, night and day.

The Favorite is built in a plant erected especially for the production of fine stoves. Only expert workmen are allowed to take part in its construction. Sixty years of stove experience are concentrated in it.

The many exclusive features that make the Favorite supreme among heating stoves are all patented, and can be found on no other stove. You will find the principle reason why it is the best in the celebrated Separated Flue construction—and this feature is patented. Why not save two or three tons of coal this winter with a Favorite? You will get more warmth and satisfaction, too.

Here is Our Offer

Put the Favorite in your home. Try it for thirty days, two months, all winter, if you want to. Then, if you do not find that everything we have said of it is true, we will take back the stove, and refund your money. Can you think of a fairer proposition than that?

We could not afford to make this offer if we did not KNOW that the Favorite would back us up and do just what we claim for it. But we are positive that after you once tried the Favorite you would not part with it for twice what it cost you, if you could not get another just like it.

If money counts—if comfort counts—if the health and happiness of your family count—you cannot afford to buy or use any heating stove but the Favorite.

QUESTION OF DANCES IN NEW GYMNASIUM IS AGITATED

High School Pupils Present Petition Asking Permission for Dances—Board of Education Thinks Matter Should Be Decided by Parents.

A problem which is of larger importance than might seem to be upon the face of it is now agitating members of the high school faculty and of the board of education. This question is nothing more nor less than whether or not dancing shall be allowed in the eighth grade gymnasium, and furthermore, whether or not regular dances shall be arranged to be given there under the supervision of the members of the faculty or parents of the young people.

Not long since a petition signed by 128 students was presented to Superintendent Collins, Principal Stone and members of the high school faculty, and simultaneously to Mayor Davis and members of the board of education, asking for permission to hold dances in the gymnasium. Superintendent Collins and his associates realized that the question was one of many sides and of many different views, and they were unwilling to take any action in the matter without first getting the sanction of the board of education.

Member Wells, who is chairman of the high school committee, had a request to allow dancing at a meeting held Friday night, but with his permission as he was unwilling to decide the matter without a formal action on the part of the board of education. Members of the board after consideration decided that the persons who should really decide the question were the parents of the pupils. Looking somewhat to that end a conference was called for 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the high school building by Mr. Wells when officers of the various parent-teachers' associations were requested to be present and discuss the matter in an informal way. This meeting was held at the hour mentioned with Mayor Davis presiding.

Superintendent Collins briefly stated the purpose of the meeting and outlined the insistence of the demand made by a great many pupils and also stated some of the purpose of dancing. He said, too, that the question is one which has come up in a great many high schools throughout the state and is now being considered in many cities. He quoted Mr. Hollister, who is official high school visitor of the University of Illinois, in making this statement. The various women present personally had no objection to dances or dancing if conducted within the home, and they were unanimous in the view that the question is rather one of the home than the school.

As the result of the conference it was the request of the school authorities that the women present consult with the membership of the various parent-teachers' associations and possibly with the members of the various women's clubs, and thus get an idea as to their wishes in the matter. The school authorities made it clear that their desire is to handle the matter just as the majority of the parents of the pupils wish it handled, and they saw no better way of getting at this matter than of calling a few people into consultation first and then asking for a larger meeting. It was agreed that meetings of the various parent-teachers' associations will be held at early dates and the matter thoroughly discussed and committees named to find out the sentiment of parents. Some of the women's clubs will also consider the matter, and the general opinion expressed at these gatherings will then be conveyed to the school authorities for their information through committees.

AEROPLANE WILL BE ON BANK NOTES.

New Design on Federal Notes Includes Airship.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The automobile and aeroplane will make its appearance on the coin of the realm next month. On the $20 notes of the federal issue, the design represents transportation on land and water and in the air. A railroad, an auto and an aeroplane, together with an ocean liner are engraved on this latest money.

Orders have been issued by John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, to print at the bureau of engraving and printing $250,000 of federal reserve notes for the use of the banks which probably will be organized and ready for business by the middle of November.

The notes will be in denominations of five, ten, twenty, fifty and one hundred dollars. The designs are all new, and according to the experts are the most artistic yet made.

An allegorical picture covers the entire back of the hundred dollar bill. America, with Peace and Plenty on either side, is an imposing center, while labor is shown reaping the harvest, with Mercury distributing it.

The Panama Canal is shown in allegory on the fifty dollar bills. The twenties contain the transportation designs. The ten dollars bills represent a typical mining and agricultural scene; a harvest scene on one side and a modern factory in operation on the other half.

The five dollar bills, which will be most often seen, contains an engraving of the landing of Columbus, also of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers on Plymouth Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rexroat of Concord were among the visitors in Jacksonville Saturday.

Payments to the endowment and improvement fund continue in a very gratifying way. Since the last report in May 355 subscribers have paid in $24,816.23, making the total amount now paid $135,230.38, and the balance remaining unpaid only $47,912.57.

Of the 1226 subscribers to this fund, 561 have now paid in full. The Finance Committee hope that the friends who have not yet made their first or second payments will now respond promptly. It is also hoped that all the subscribers will plan definitely to make full payment by next June, which is the final date for the settlement of the fund.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

The Reverend M. L. Pontius, of the Christian Church will address the students at the Chapel exercises Tuesday morning.

A petition signed by some fifty students requesting the privilege of organizing a new social club has been handed to the social committee. A letter recently received from J. T. Dorris, '11, refers to the Mt. Carmel high school of which he is principal as "One of the largest High Schools in Southern Illinois." The school has an enrollment of 262.

William Mather Lewis, who gave the commencement address at the Business College on Tuesday evening, was formerly principal of Whipple Academy.

During his visit in Jacksonville, he was entertained at the home of Truman P. Carter, '35 and of Professor J. G. Ames.

The moderator of the recent Presbyterian Synod at Bloomington, was the Rev. A. S. Leonard, of Brighton, Ill., father of Selden S. Leonard, '02.

The current number of the New York Nation contains an editorial on "The Church and Higher Education" in which quotations are made from the autobiography of the late President J. M. Sturtevant.

(The New York Daily Times of Sunday, October 11th, contains a half page article on Frederick C. Tanner, '98, the new chairman of the Republican state central committee. The article is illustrated by a large cut of Mr. Tanner. It is evident from the articles which have appeared regarding Mr. Tanner in the New York papers, that a new kind of leadership is expected from him.

His attitude towards the former Republican political boss is indicated by the remark which he made to the author for the article in the Times: "I am certainly willing to listen to the counsel of Mr. Barnes but he is no longer chairman of this committee."

NEW YORK CITY IS 300 YEARS OLD.

New York, Oct. 24.—The celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of New York City opened today with a big parade, in which the modern motor car was the feature. General Nelson A. Miles, the famous chief of the army, and Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary, the U. S. Navy's famous explorer, led the parade.

The celebration will extend a full week, with many features. Tomorrow President Wilson will formally open the festivities, when he will preside at the service conducted by ministers of all denominations at the Hippodrome. Governor Glynn and Mayor Mitchell will also attend, and the gathering is expected to eclipse all previous meetings for religious and patriotic purposes. For it will be the first time in the history of the city that all denominations have come together for a common purpose.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No More Headache, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach and Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated, on just a Cascarets tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irritable of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

JACKSONVILLE DEFEATS ALTON

LOCAL ELEVEN VICTOR IN CONTEST 21 TO 0.

Coach Buland's Football Team Put Up Good Game Against Opponents Although Not in Usual Form—Peoria Central Here Next Saturday

Jacksonville high school eleven added another victory to their list of successes last season by defeating the Alton high school at Alton, Saturday afternoon by a score of 21 to 0. Jacksonville and their scoring in the first and last quarters. The loss, while playing a good game, were not up to their usual form. Alton has a good team, their full back weighing two hundred pounds. Maddox played an exceptionally good game yesterday both offensive and defensive while Killbrew made his position felt by the opponents. Jacksonville kicked to Alton at the beginning and Alton was held for downs. Jacksonville worked the ball down, when Maddox got around the line for a 20 yard run and Killbrew was sent through the line for a touch down.

Alton again received the kick and was held for downs. Alton punted. By line bucks by Haigh, Maddox and Killbrew the ball was worked down to the two yard line when Killbrew was sent through Alton's line for the second touch down.

There was no scoring in the second and third quarters, both teams giving an exhibition of a see-saw on the field.

A forward pass to Thompson was the first sign of scoring by Jacksonville in the fourth quarter. By a number of line bucks the ball was taken down the line when Strawn was sent around the end for a touch down.

Jacksonville has their next game Saturday in Jacksonville when the Peoria Central high school team comes for a contest.

The following was Jacksonville's line-up:

Boxell and Thompson, re; Meyer, rt; Herring, rg; C. Strawn, c; Robinson, lg; P. Strawn, lt; J. Pyatt, be; Reynolds, qb; Haigh and Boxell, lb; Maddox, r. h.b.; Killbrew, fb.

Coach Beebe of Shurtleff college acted as referee.

MRS. CHARLOTTE GORDON DIED AT EARLY MORNING HOUR

Had Been Resident of This Locality For Many Years.

Mrs. Charlotte Gibbs Gordon died at her home, 310 West College street, at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, Oct. 24. Her death was due to a stroke of apoplexy which came upon her shortly before the noon hour on Friday. At that time she was discovered by her son Fredling, seated at a table with her head resting on one of her arms. She was unconscious when discovered and remained in that condition until claimed by death. She was to all appearances in her usual health an hour previous to her discovery by her son, and had not been complaining of ill health so far as is known. Charlotte Gibbs was a daughter of Robert and Rebecca Gibbs who were born and grew to man and womanhood in Yorkshire, England, and who after their marriage at their home, Oct. 13, 1839, came to America and settled in the vicinity of Utica, New York, where three of the ten children born of this union were born. After a residence at that place of four years, the family came west and found a temporary home near where now stands the town of Riggston, in Scott county. Later they purchased a farm southeast of Winchester where they remained until after the birth of their daughter, Charlotte on Jan. 21, 1847. Six years later the family moved to a farm 2 1/2 miles southwest of Lynnvill, which had been purchased by Mr. Gibbs, and which continued to be the family home until Nov. 29, 1867 when the daughter, Charlotte was united in marriage to James B. Gordon who preceded his wife in death Nov. 9, 1899. Of the five brothers and four sisters of Mrs. Gordon but one now survives, that one is Charles Gibbs residing in the Point neighborhood west of this city. There was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon eight children, Mrs. Virginia Bell of Chicago, Miss Frances Gordon of Jacksonville, Mrs. L. R. Day of Winchester, Felix Gordon of Murrayville, Mrs. George T. Cass of Danville, Carl O. Gordon of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. Earl May of Danville and Fredling Gordon of Jacksonville, all of whom survive to mourn the death of a loving and much loved mother and friend.

Shortly after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Gordon took up their residence in Lynnvill where they continued to live until three years since when the family removed to Jacksonville to reside.

Mrs. Gordon was a member of the Christian church at Lynnvill and a consistent Christian, who was loved by a large circle of friends and neighbors who will sincerely mourn her sudden passing from this midst.

The sympathy of a host of friends will go out to the members of the family and the brother who are bereft of their loved one.

Funeral services will be held in the Central Christian church at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

BAPTISTS TO ERECT BUILDING AT CHAMPAIGN

Will Erect Plant Costing $30,000 Within the Coming Year—Next Meeting of State Association to be in Aurora.

Rev. Percy Stephens, Miss Elizabeth Stebbins and John Schofield, who went as delegates from the First Baptist church and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Curry, from the Pisgah church, to the 70th annual convention of the Baptist church of the state held at Mount Vernon, have returned home. There was a large attendance and the other churches of the city assisted in entertaining the large number of delegates. The convention adjourned to meet next year in Aurora, where Rev. T. H. Marsh is pastor of the First church. The four Baptist pastors of Aurora had written an invitation to the convention to have next year's meeting with them.

The annual sermon was given by Rev. A. Le Grand, D. D., of Quincy. His text was "Be still and Know that I am God." Rev. John M. Dean, D. D., of Chicago gave a very forceful address on "Chicago the Heart of the Baptist battle." The temperance address was by Rev. F. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league.

The Baptist church made a pledge of $30,000 for the erection of a place for the students of that denomination at Champaign. One man pledged $500. It is expected to have the building erected within twelve months.

ILLINOIS' SECOND TEAM WINS FROM CARROLLTON HIGH

Local Eleven Annexes Contest in Green County by Score of 12 to 0.

The second team of Illinois college went to Carrollton Saturday where they defeated the High school of that place by a score of 12 to 0. It was a scrappy game throughout, the Carrollton eleven playing stronger in the second half than in the first.

Illinois made their first touchdown five minutes after the game started. The locals marched down the field and Jones was sent through the line for a touch down. In the second quarter Berryman made the touch down, receiving a pretty forward pass and making a run of fifteen yards. Berry played a good game at guard and Duggar also gave a good account of himself.

Illinois' line up follows—Lukeman, re; McLaughlin, rt; Mangner, rg; Russell, c; Berry, lg; Sooy, lt; Berryman, ler; Capps, lhb; Dugger, rlb; Harmon, qb; Jones, fb. Morse acted as referee and Wilson (Illinois) umpire.

COLORED WOMAN SHOOTS HUSBAND

PEARL BROWN IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION AT PASSAVANT HOSPITAL.

Wife States She Did Not Intend to Inflict a Serious Wound and Shot When She Saw He Was Going to Strike Her—Bullet Enters Near Heart.

Pearl Brown, colored, is in a serious condition at Passavant hospital as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by his wife Saturday night about 10 o'clock. Mrs. Brown was arrested and is confined in the city prison.

Bullet Enters Near Heart.
The shooting took place near the corner of Sheridan and Sherman streets and the police were immediately notified. Dr. A. M. King was called and he and David Estaque went to the scene in Dr. King's automobile and took the injured man to Passavant hospital where an operation was performed in an effort to locate the bullet. Dr. King was assisted by Dr. W. P. Duncan. The bullet entered the left side just an inch below the heart and shattered a rib. It could not be found by the surgeons and they were unable to determine whether or not it had lodged in the lung. The man lost a great deal of blood and his condition is considered serious.

As soon as the police department was notified of the shooting Captain Trahey and Officer Baker went to the scene and arrested Mrs. Brown. Officer Baker later found the revolver near the corner where the shooting took place. It is a 22 calibre Harrington & Richards and the cylinder contained two discharged and two loaded cartridges. One of the cartridges had evidently been fired some time ago and the gun had the appearance of having laid a good while without any attention.

Talks Freely of Shooting.
When seen at the police station early this morning Mrs. Brown talked freely of the shooting and stated that it was not her intention to inflict a serious wound when she fired. She said that she had been working for a De Frates family on King street and that her husband sent word to her Saturday afternoon to meet him at the residence of a Higgins family on Sherman street, near that of his mother, Mrs. Ogden. When she arrived there her husband was not at the house and after waiting for a time she told Mrs. Higgins that she had better go home, as it was getting dark. Mrs. Higgins persuaded her to wait a while longer and finally when her husband did not arrive she started from the house.

Asked as to where she secured the gun, Mrs. Brown replied: "While at the residence of Mrs. Higgins I saw it on the dresser and as I was afraid to go home in the dark I took it with me. I never before carried any sort of a weapon with me and I took the revolver because it was so late. Just a few minutes after I left the Higgins residence I saw my husband and a woman coming toward his mother's residence. It seems that he saw me at about the same time, for he turned and the woman who was with him left him at once and went to the home of Mrs. Ogden.

"When my husband came up I asked him who was with him and he replied 'it's none of your business!' I asked him again and he repeated his answer and started toward me. I knew how quick he was to strike and when he started toward me I fired."

Brown is a Hard Worker.
Pearl Brown has been employed as a coal hauler for William Nunes for three years and was an industrious, hard working man. Last August he was arrested on a charge of assault, his wife charging that he struck her over the head and cut her brother, Gus Collins, on the neck with a razor. After a time the warrant was withdrawn by Mrs. Brown. In speaking of this last night Mrs. Brown showed a scar on the side of her head, which she said was caused by the blow. She stated that she withdrew the warrant only at the request of her husband, whom, she said, promised not to cause any more trouble. She said that they had sold their furniture just a short time ago, intending to move to Oklahoma and until just recently were getting along nicely.
